Forecast For Scotland
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 1600 on Thursday 18 Mar 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Clear spells for many tonight, cloudy in north.

This Evening and Tonight:
Low cloud and patchy drizzle will linger along the west coast and across the north, some of this extending into the southeast later. Otherwise dry with clear skies and a few fog patches.

Friday:
Staying dull with occasional drizzle across the east, northwest and Northern Isles. Elsewhere dry with some sunshine, feeling very mild.

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Staying mostly settled although rather cloudy at times. A little light rain across the north at times. Feeling very mild in any sunshine.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.